

Your life, your food. Let's talk—then eat.

At [SCHOOL],
we take care of our students like family.
That means serving you good, nourishing meals. It also means we need to know about your food allergy.

Even if you've already told your roommate, resident advisor, student health center, disability services, your professor,
your counselor, your coach, and your friends...

you still need to tell the dining staff about your food allergy for a safer dining experience.

Speak up, please!
We're excited to share our food with you!

Want to talk more?

XXXXXX XXXXXX XXXXXX
XXXXXXXXX XXXX XXXX

FARE
It's good for everyone.